

Dr. Arpita Basu, a distinguished alumna of Bethune College, Kolkata, has been serving efficiently as the Assistant Treasurer of Bethune College Sammilani for an extended period. With a Ph.D. in Museology, she boasts over two decades of academic and research excellence. Her prolific publications and participation in numerous international conferences highlight her expertise and commitment to cultural heritage and social responsibility.

Dr. Basu has served as a Visiting Lecturer in the Museology Department at Rabindra Bharati University and as a resource person for post-graduate courses at Netaji Subhas Open University. Her work has earned her recognition as a Tagore National Scholar and numerous roles in cultural research through her associations with Anthropological Survey of India, Maulana Abul Kalam Azad Institute of Asian Studies and The Asiatic Society, Kolkata. Beyond academia, Dr. Basu has founded and administered a social-science research society for more than a decade and has been instrumental in empowering tribal communities through her initiative, as a founder of Suchetana Social Responsibility Mission. Dr. Basu has been dedicated to a range of social initiatives, emphasizing the educational, health, mental, nutritional and athletic development of tribal communities and disadvantaged children of West Bengal. Her unwavering dedication to education, cultural research and community development underscores her esteemed prominence in the social, cultural and academic field.