

Shyamali Basu, 1938. Author and journalist, completed graduation from Bethune College, and post graduation from Calcutta University. A prolific writer with a special passion for Bengali renaissance, plight of women in 19th century, and Rabindra nathtagore. Her publications include biography, novel, drama, collection of essays and translations. Shyamali Basu was nominated cultural secretary and then vice president of Ram mohan library and free reading room and also the president of Bethune College Sammilani. She is associated with many other educational and cultural institutions. Shyamali Basu has been felicitated by numerous literary and cultural organisations, in recognition of her contribution to literary and cultural arena- হবে